Those were momentous and history making words which General Douglas McArthru thered as "Old Glory" was sent to the halyards over the Chancery building in old Tokyo last Friday. Here are the words: "Have our flag unfurled, and in Tokyo's sun, let it wave its full glory, as a symbol of hope for the oppressed and a harbinger of Victory and Right". The American oil industry was always one jump ahead of our enemies in World War II and the fact that it kept our planes, battleships, tanks and other equipment fully fueled at all times, is a major reason for the success of the Allies. Previous to the war, the oil companies were always one jump ahead of domestic demands of motor equipment, automobiles, boats, heating, etc. Oil production is an outstanding example of the benefits that flow fro mthe daring initiative and enterprise of American citizens.

Looking to the needs of the future, the oil industry is developing a high-test aviation fuel so resistant to accidental ignition that a lighted match can be dropped into it without resulting fire. Thus does American industry maintain its record by leading the procession in the game of progress.

Good Advice To Retailers

Good Advice To Retailers

There is probably no better posted man in the United States on the art of retailing, than Dr. Paul Nystrom president of Limited Price Variety Stores Association, and professor of marketing at Columbia University. He says that the small owner's role in postwar distribution is "doing a better job of store-keeping than he ever did before."

From this standpoint, the small store is in exactly the same position as the largest chain store, and both will succeed or fail by the same techniques ond both must win public patronage by the service they render in their respective localities

Specifically, Dr. Nystrom points out that the little retailer can improve his display, improve his selling technique, and improve his display, improve his selling technique, and improve his choice of merchandise to meet the requirements of his particular customers. The largest chain can do no more than this. The field is open to the smallest store, for there is no monopoly on intelligence.

opoly on intelligence.

Small retailers who heed such advice need have few worries about competitiors.

"And now, gentlemen," continued the Congressman at his press conference, "I wish to tax your memory." "Good Heavens," muttered the reporter, "has it come to that."—Appleland News.

MANY THANKS, ELECTORS

Though not present in town to do any campaigning for a place on the City Commission, I am grateful that the electors of the city saw fit to elect me to that Board without this service. Your expression of confidence in my fitness for the office gives me personal pleasure and I shall not wittingly betray such confidence while serving you as a Commissioner.

A PROMISE OF SERVICE

There is always a bit of elation coming to a successful candidate and his backers in any political campaign, and such a spirit comes to me in my successful candidacy for the City Commissioner race. To those who supported me I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation and in the term of office I may serve, will make strenuous endeavor not to let them or the city down in any of my dealings, in whatever capacity they may come to me. So far as citizens are concerned come to me. So far as citizens are concerned I extend them invitation to bring their troubles and complaints to me and they will be given careful thought and consideration.

HAS FAITH IN BELLE GLADE

To the victor belongs the congratulations of a defeated candidate and so I extend such greeting to my opponent in the Commissioner race to Mr. Lee Puckett. I appreciate the votes of those who supported my candidacy. In retiring from the Commission I shall retain my interest and faith in Belle Glade, and wish the Board success in all its undertakings, as the members face the actual realities of the duties of such office, which they will find exacting and oft times very, very difficult.

W. P. RISK

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

Making my first entry into city politics I am more than pleased with the vote that my friends extended me at Tuesday's election, which gives me the legal right to be seated as a member of the City Commission for the next two years. As a member of such Commission it will be my endeavor to handle city business in a business like manner, and care for whatever city department may be assigned to me.

Thanks many times for your vote and confidence in me.

As I voluntarily retire from members:ip on the City Commission I desire to say that I have thoroughly enjoyed the services it entailed and the varied experiences obtained thereby. I am fully appreciative of the fine cooperation afforded me in the Park development work by the Commission, City Clubs and Citizens, for through these sources it was possible to develop our fine park and recreational

Joe Doakes doesn't count sheep any more. He counts ice cubes!

They don't help him drop off to sleep either, but at least he can dream, can't he? Poor Joe just can't get his forty winks these hot, muggy nights . . . says his bed room is like a Turkish bath long after that evenin' sun goes down . . . and the skeeters eat him alive if he tries to snooze on the porch!

It's plain to see that Joe never heard that modern air coadi coning . engineered by the Belcher Industries provides clean, fresh air, wonderfully cooled, clear around the clock from morning to night . . . with controlled temperature and humidity, day after day, summer or winter.

If Joe doesn't want to be caught napping, he'll come down to Belcher Industries with his architect or consulting engineer and order an air conditioning system tailored to fit his needs.

The Belcher Industries will fill all orders in sequence...just as soon as equipment is made available by the Government. A derast now will insure you priority of delivery!
